

2018 Annual Mind Matters Conference

APRIL 10th & 11th

Holiday Inn, Fargo, North Dakota

Who Should Attend

The Mind Matters Conference attracts a diverse, multidisciplinary range of professionals due to the array of providers needed to successfully support individuals after a brain injury. Doctors, nurses, rehabilitation professionals, neuropsychologists, psychologists, behavioral health counselors, educators, vocational specialists, paraprofessionals, individuals with brain injury, and family members are invited to attend.

Objectives

The purpose of this two-day conference is to highlight new research, trends, practice strategies, and collaborative models of care. Innovative approaches and new systems of care for individuals living with a brain injury will be presented through discussion, lecture, case studies, and exhibits.

Keynote Speakers

- Amy Zellmer, “Embracing the Journey: Lessons Learned from TBI” • facesoftbi.com
 - Susan Vitalis, MD “Who Am I and What Am I Here For?” • susanvitalis.com
- Presentation handouts will be available after March 9th @ ndbin.org they will not be provided at the conference.*

Continuing Education Hours

This conference has been approved from the North Dakota Board of Social Work Examiners. We will be applying for continuing education hours for several other disciplines.
